SYNOPSIS

(63 words)

Fourteen-year-old David makes a mix tape for his first crush, Amber, hoping the hand-picked songs will fully express his love and devotion. As David works to complete his opus, his parents grow concerned by his obsession for music and recent erratic behavior.

In an intimate portrait of one boy's infatuation, Wow and Flutter reminds us of the wonder and fragility of adolescent love.

(17 words)

Fourteen-year old David makes a mixed tape for his first crush, Amber, an unattainable high school senior.

BIOGRAPHY

Gary Lundgren, Director

Gary made his directorial debut out of film school with the 16mm feature film Lithium. Since then Gary has directed music videos and television and currently works as a screenwriter. Wow and Flutter was inspired by a true incident in a friend's life and Gary's own obsession with pop culture and great music.

BIOGRAPHIES

Anne Lundgren, Producer

Anne has produced music videos for Gary and Anne's company Broken Sky Films and also produced their debut feature Lithium. Previously Anne worked as a project manager and consultant in the software industry.

Patrick Neary, Director of Photography

Patrick has extensive experience as a cinematographer in features, commercials and television. His background as a still photographer gives him an exceptional eye for detail and beautiful composition.

Ethan Moskowitz, "David"

Ethan, 14, resides in Ashland, Oregon with his parents and sister. His greatest passions are snowboarding, sports and music.

Ethan was the last actor Gary and Anne saw while casting in Medford, Oregon. This was after seeing actors all over Oregon and in California. Prior to Wow and Flutter, Ethan had worked in commercials and theater, but had no experience in narrative filmmaking.

Ethan's sincere performance wonderfully captures the joy and fragility of adolescent love.
